

NICHOLA MARTIN

for Federal Council

Why I'm standing:

I love to win – elections are what gets more Lib Dems into power, and I want to make sure the party always puts campaigners and local parties first.

I want to represent members – Federal Council should be about giving a voice to activists, not just rubber-stamping decisions from the top.

I'll ask the tough questions – I'm collaborative and constructive, but I'm not afraid to challenge when something doesn't add up.

I've been campaigning for over a decade – from John O'Groats to Eastbourne, knocking on doors, running war rooms, and helping MPs and councillors get elected.

I believe in openness – members deserve clear communication about what's going on and why decisions are being made.

I care about doing things properly – my whole career has been about supporting Lib Dems in power, and I want to keep doing that at Federal Council.
