

Julie Adnams Hatch

I want to bring disability and difference into the formative conversations for our conferences

*A good organiser and efficient problem-solver
- it's what I do every day of my life.*

I believe in education, internationalism, peace, people, equity for all, protecting our environment & planet, kindness, acceptance of difference, being kind to all.

My physical limitations are my inspiration not my impairment.

jadnamshatch@gmail.com

Additional needs are not limited to disability, visible or hidden, but also neuro-diversity, work and personal circumstances.

We want to be politically engaged, attending conferences, bringing our lived experience to debates, meetings, training sessions & fringe events.

Everyone should have the opportunities to be heard

I am a prolific campaigner, clocking up several thousand phone calls every year, and love being part of our local election count team. It's amazing what you can see from a wheelchair!

I don't talk out the back of my head

It's not just any limitations of venues but locality; fully accessible transport links; ability to park in a nearby, well-lit area, safely and at a realistic price. There should be affordable hotels, with reserved parking and properly accessible rooms suitable for all needs.

In 2022, I opened my heart and home to Ukrainians seeking safety in the UK. I have never looked back or regretted my decision. They have taught me so much about their homeland, culture, their strength and determination. We talk, we laugh, we cry, we sing, we eat, we hug, they dance. I will be eternally grateful to them all for standing against their aggressors, because they are Europe's frontline and we should look away at our peril. Now they come to conference, they speak to us the reality of our wider vulnerability - it makes the platform of conference essential for the wellbeing and safety of our nation and all of Europe.

I have organised and run local, national and world record status archery tournaments; booked and run big band dances for 300+ guests; set up an Animal Care Training Centre in a Norfolk agricultural college; managed a local farmers' market; am Vice Chair, North Devon Lib Dems, responsible for diversity and inclusivity; Chair of local medical centre's patients group, organising regular wellbeing clubs.

I want to bring my experience, be your voice on our Federal Conference Committee, to help create more inclusive, accessible and relevant events.

jadnamshatch@gmail.com

Julie Adnams Hatch

#1FCC

I want to bring disability and difference into the formative conversations for our conferences.

A good organiser and efficient problem-solver- it's what I do every day of my life.

I believe in education, internationalism, peace, people, equity for all, protecting our environment & planet, kindness, acceptance of difference, being kind to all.

My physical limitations are my inspiration not my impairment.

Additional needs are not limited to disability, visible or hidden, but also neuro-diversity, work and personal circumstances.

We want to be politically engaged, attending conferences, bringing our lived experience to debates, meetings, training sessions & fringe events.

Everyone should have the opportunities to be heard.

I am a prolific campaigner, clocking up several thousand phone calls every year, and love being part of our local election count team. It's amazing what you can see from a wheelchair!

It's not just any limitations of venues but locality; fully accessible transport links; ability to park in a nearby, well-lit area, safely and at a realistic price. There should be affordable hotels, with reserved parking and properly accessible rooms suitable for all needs.

In 2022, I opened my heart and home to Ukrainians seeking safety in the UK. I have never looked back or regretted my decision. They have taught me so much about their homeland, culture, their strength and determination. We talk, we laugh, we cry, we sing, we eat, we hug, they dance. I will be eternally grateful to them all for standing against their aggressors, because they are Europe's frontline and we should look away at our peril. Now they come to conference, they speak to us the reality of our wider vulnerability - it makes the platform of conference essential for the wellbeing and safety of our nation and all of Europe.

I have organised and run local, national and world record status archery tournaments; booked and run big band dances for 300+ guests; set up an Animal Care Training Centre in a Norfolk agricultural college; managed a local farmers' market; am Vice Chair, North Devon Lib Dems, responsible for diversity and inclusivity; Chair of local medical centre's patients group, organising regular wellbeing clubs.

I want to bring my experience, be your voice on our Federal Conference Committee, to help create more inclusive, accessible and relevant events.

jadnamshatch@gmail.com