I am probably best known as the ordinary party member who created the policy of raising the income tax threshold. Read how I did it on Lib Dem Voice: <http://bit.ly/2dGfhRv>

I am an entrepreneur, I own and run an award winning vintage style tea room in my town which I opened in 2017. In 2020, I started a second high street business and currently run both businesses in tandem. I understand the challenges of running a small high street business and of employing people. 98.9% of businesses in Britain are small or medium sized (SMEs) but the current government is only making policy for the 8,000 large corporations that make up just 1.1% of businesses.

FPC needs to have at least one voice with the knowledge and experience to be able to speak up for small businesses. I have that knowledge and experience.
If you agree that FPC needs my voice, please give me your first preference vote.

As a candidate, I know how important it is to have policies that differentiate us from the other two parties but I want us to have innovative policies that deliver real improvement to the lives of ordinary people. I live in the North West so am outside of the south east bubble.

I was elected to FPC for the 1st time in 2016 and would love to be re-elected again. On FPC I am part of the Policy Impact & Equality Panel which assesses policies to ensure they do not disadvantage any sector of society. If you need me on FPC, please give me your first preference vote.
