

Re-elect

Jeremy Hargreaves

My track record as Vice Chair of FPC

✓ Our most successful manifesto ever

All of the top seven most popular General Election policies from any party, were ours (Yougov). Our NHS policy was an even more important reason to vote Lib Dem than getting the Tories out (More in Common)!

✓ More party members engaged in making our policies

I constantly push to find new ways to engage members. Consultation sessions around the country. Online discussion sessions. Supporting local party policy discussions. Working with the Party Bodies Forum, and more.

✓ Diverse voices at our heart

Making sure FPC's policy working groups' memberships are diverse in all ways – ethnically, geographically, gender and sexuality, and background. And making sure all our work takes into account an Equalities Impact Assessment.

My drive is to win us councillors and MPs
by telling our party's story to voters through compelling,
cut-through policies
across all our areas.

Jeremy Hargreaves

What are my priorities?

Voters consistently say Health is one of their top concerns.

I've worked in every part of the health and care system, from being a senior manager in a large acute NHS Trust, to advising local commissioning, the CQC and central government. After many years as a governor of a hospital, I'm currently a non-exec in primary care. In the party, I've chaired FPC's policy working group on health.

Making sure our policies tell our party's story in a way that's genuinely appealing to voters.

We have excellent well-evidenced policies on a huge range of things. But people cast their vote mostly on how they feel about a party, which is more than just the total of all our policies. Our policies have to support our wider story, and work with our political strategy. I've pushed hard – and successfully – for this at FPC.

I'm a pro-European through and through.

A former Chair of the Lib Dem European Group (LDEG), and on the Board of the UK European Movement for 15 years, a positive relationship with the rest of our continent remains at the heart of my view of Britain's future success. Our task now is to make the case in the right way to help our prosperity, security and our shared environment.

Vote Jeremy Hargreaves

for more strong policies with broad support across the party
