

Marcus Foster

#1 For Federal Policy Committee

Dear fellow member,

If we're going to build on our stunning success in the election last year, we need a comprehensive, radical vision for the country we want to build.

That's going to take:

Policy that every member can contribute to

Our party is diverse, in backgrounds, identities and viewpoints - just like the UK! That needs to be reflected in our policies, with particular attention paid to underrepresented groups both in the Party and in the country more widely.

Policy in line with our values

Everything we are proposing should be liberal to the core. That's what makes us different. We should not be afraid to deviate from the other parties on issues like Digital ID, freedom of speech and human rights. This may be difficult at times, but if we don't, then who will?

Policy that is relevant to voters

I've been involved in elections up and down the country - and whilst its local candidates that win campaigns, they need to be given the right kind of policies that they can sell on the doorstep. We need to meet voters where they are - not telling them what they want to hear, but addressing the biggest issues in their lives.

They're my priorities. If they're yours too I would love to have your first preference vote for Federal Policy Committee.

Marcus Foster

Candidate for Federal Policy Committee

Marcus' CV:

- 2016-2019 - worked for the Party in a variety of campaigning roles, including on the 2017 and 2019 General Elections in London, and the Stop Brexit campaign.
- 2020-21 - worked on planning policy and regulation for both residential and commercial developments. Projects Marcus worked on have delivered , or will deliver, over 2000 homes.
- 2021 until now - works on early-stage startup policy. He has represented his organisation on roundtables, panels, and in the national media.
- Marcus is also part of the founding team of Digital Lib Dems, an informal group for Liberal Democrats in the technology sector. He continues to provide campaigning advice and support to candidates across the country.