

Rebecca JONES

For Federal Policy Committee

About Me!

My name's Rebecca and I'm standing for FPC. I have been an active member of the party since 2019 and have always jumped head first into getting stuck in with policy. I've done a lot of my work inside the Young Liberals and Lib Dem Women to ensure our policy is inclusive, especially so for women, and I hope to continue this work if elected to the Federal Policy Committee.

What policy have I done?

2023 Proposer of 'Period Poverty' at Autumn Lib Dem Conference
2025 Proposer of 'Trans Healthcare' amendment to 'Free to be who you are' at Spring Lib Dem Conference
2025 Proposer of 'Women in Hospitality' amendment to 'Backing Hospitality' at Autumn Lib Dem Conference
I've also spoken on plenty of other policy such as Nuclear Power, Sunday Trading Laws and plenty of other policy and constitutional amendments at the Young Liberals conferences

What else have I done?

2022 LE candidate in Tower Hamlets
2022-23 Young Liberals policy Officer
2023 LE candidate in Teignbridge
2023-24 Young Liberals Non-Portfolio Officer
2023-25 Lib Dem Women exec member
2024 GLA candidate in North East London
2024 GE candidate in Hackney North
2024 local by-election candidate in Islington
2024-25 Young Liberals Diversity Officer

Who else is backing Becca?

Caron Lindsay

Lib Dem Women Executive Member

“Rebecca is a brilliant advocate for women’s rights and she will ensure that our policy development considers women’s needs.”

Martin Wrigley MP

MP for Newton Abbot

“I’ve known Rebecca for 6 years now and she has always been passionate about the party. I believe she would be an effective voice on FPC ensuring our party policy can represent all the members.”

Candy Piercy

“I believe Rebecca Jones will be a great asset to the FPC. We need more young people on our committees who are in touch with social media trends and can communicate effectively with the younger generation. This is particularly important for the Federal Policy Committee. Rebecca is social media savvy and is a brilliant communicator, who stands up for Liberal Values”
