Plan for the Federal Policy Committee

Membership Engagement

Members have much expertise to give to the Lib Dem Policy process, and I will work to turn the FPC into a forum to coordinate and empower members, particularly through the work of AOs, Regions and Parliament. Through my own experience in these groups, I understand how best to build bridges and contribute value to our policy development.

Policy Communication

New media, new challenges in policy, and growing competition for media space are all reasons for the need to improve the communication of our policy. On the Federal Policy Committee, I will push for all working groups to focus more on the campaigning potential of our strong policy: attracting members, being the voice of businesses and generating media attention for the Party.
